

EXPERIENCE THE FRONT LINES ANNIE'S LIST CAMPAIGN SCHOOL

Do you think you could be the next Dee Dee Myers? Donna Brazile?

Annie's List Campaign School is now accepting applications for summer 2010. 30 men and women have already graduated and been immediately placed on progressive campaigns right here in Texas – leading voter contact programs, press relations, opposition research, online strategies, and engaging voters door-to-door on issues that affect their lives and their families.

Become a part of the movement that led Annie's List to be named the "Best Political Action Committee" in Texas. Our track record speaks for itself! Since 2003, we've helped elect Mayor Annise Parker in Houston and 14 progressive, pro-choice Democratic women to the Texas Legislature.

If you're committed to developing the skills and working on the front lines of Texas politics, then Campaign School might be right for you. Here's the scoop:

- An intensive week-long training (July 21st – July 29th) learning campaign fundamentals from the best political professionals in the business.
- The day after completing the training, participants will be dispatched to targeted races across Texas where they'll receive free housing and a stipend to work full time in whatever role the campaign needs
- After election day, Annie's List will help those who are committed to continue working on the front lines find their next job in progressive politics.

Deadline for Applications is May 14. Apply today!

JOE COLLAR

Campaign School Graduate Class of 2009
Currently: Field Director for Robert Miklos Campaign

"Annie's List Campaign School gave me the opportunity to turn a passion for politics into a real political career. From message development, to voter targeting, to fundraising, Annie's List gave me the tools and knowledge I needed to start my career in politics. Not only did Annie's List give me a top-notch crash course in campaigning, they sent me to Houston to work for on the historic Annise Parker for Mayor Campaign. In Houston I had the chance to put what I learned in Campaign School to work— organizing and recruiting volunteers, writing the Latino Vote Program, and winning. Now I'm working as the Field Director for one of the most highly targeted legislative races in Texas."
